Re: MPM Silicones, LLC Sistersville, WV Facility

Dear Ms. Flaherty:

As you know, MPM Silicones, LLC ("Momentive") has succeeded to General Electric Company's rights under an April 24, 2003 Purchase and Exchange Agreement (the "Agreement") with Crompton Corporation. Chemtura Corporation ("Chemtura") has succeeded to Crompton's rights and obligations under that Agreement.

Several times over the past six weeks, beginning on February 3, 2012, Momentive has advised Chemtura that Momentive intended to meet with regulators to disclose, as it is legally obligated to, the presence of PCBs in the subsurface of its Sistersville facility and the historical operations which resulted in those subsurface PCBs. Although Momentive does not believe it is required to do so under the Agreement, Momentive wanted to extend the courtesy to Chemtura of giving it one final notice of Momentive's intention to make this disclosure to regulators.

Sincerely yours,
